EVERYDAY SPEECH

What are They Thinking About?

Whenever we are unsure in a situation, our first tool should be our eyes! Look around and see what others are looking at. This lets you know what they are thinking about! For example, if a student is staring at their watch they probably are thinking about the time and have someplace to go.

Why was Andrew sad at first?

What was Christine doing when Andrew was trying to talk to her?

What clues did Andrew use to tell that Christine was frustrated with the computer?
