HELPING OTHERS

Helping others is a polite and nice thing to do! Other people will be grateful for your help. If we are good observers, we will notice the times when people need our help. Think about how you feel when others help you.

1. Why didn't Julie help Christine the first time?
2. How did Christine feel about Julie when she didn't help her?
3. How did Julie use observing and thinking about others to know when she should help Christine? How did Christine feel after Julie helped her?

DISCUSS HOW YOU COULD HELP OTHERS IN EACH SITUATION

A friend wants to stay after school for a swim team meeting but does not have a ride home.

A friend at your lunch table forgot their lunch today.

You see someone doing their math work and they look really frustrated.
