EVERYDAY SPEECH

Not Asking for Help

We all need help sometime! If we don't ask for help, we can make our small problem even bigger. Asking other people allows us to get the help we need!

What was Mike's problem?

How did he feel when he couldn't do his work?

How did he make his problem better?

READ EACH SCENARIO & DECIDE IF THEY ARE MAKING THEIR PROBLEM BETTER OR WORSE

Sam's baking cookies for a bake sale. She doesn't know how long to cook them. She already burnt some. Instead of asking for help, she just makes them again the same way.

Derrick has to make a big speech in front of his class. He feels really nervous. He knows that his mom makes speeches at work so he asks her for some advice.

Julie needs help getting the computer to print. Her friend Molly is close by. She asks Molly if she knows how to get the computer to print. Molly has done it before and shows her.

Trystan broke his mom's nice lamp. His brother says, "I can help, I know where the pieces go" but Trystan tries on his own. When he tries to put the pieces together they break into smaller ones.
