BACKGROUND BRIEF

If we leave out important details when we talk to others, they can become confused. The Background Brief is every piece of information you need to say, so no one will be confused!

Fill in each part of Zach's story you hear. Decide if any piece of background information was left out.

Who?

What?

When?

Where?

Which piece of background information was left out? How did this make Leah feel?

REVIEW

Why was it difficult for Leah to understand Zach's story? Write your own story about what you did this weekend, using the Background Brief to remember each part.
